

PROFESSIONAL PHOTO ARCHIVES

General Hydrogen
Vancouver, BC, Canada
Manufacturing (Gen.)

cpgenhy2.jpg

A Control Station with adjacent stacked door cabinets.

cpgenhy1.jpg

General Hydrogen is an integrator of fuel cells, primarily used to power lift trucks. They have equipped their facility with a wide range of Lista products, including workbays with industrial and mobile workbenches, and overhead cabinets on stationary riser shelves.

cpgenhy3.jpg

Spools of wire are mounted on galvanized pipe set into drawer tracks equipped with custom brackets.

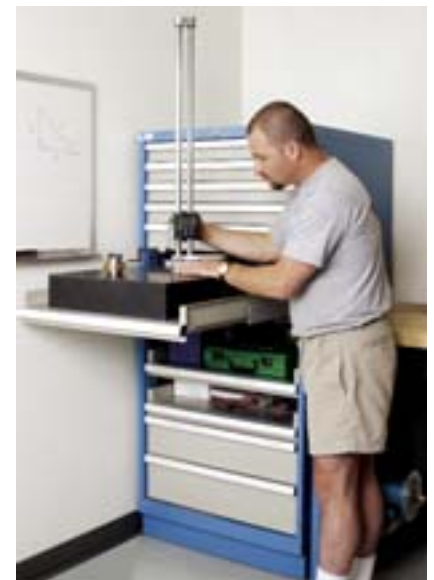

cpgenhy4.jpg

This welding workbench allows the storage of soldering rods in double wide drawers in the bench pedestal.

A granite plate is housed on a roll-out tray. The tray is pulled out when in use, and stored closed and out of the way the rest of the time (the height gauge is kept on the adjacent bench when not in use).

cpgenhy5.jpg

cpgenhy6.jpg