Gaskets are stored in DW75 drawers using holding pins. Each gasket is outlined in pen on the drawer bottom, so it's easy to tell if a part is out of stock.

Kimbell Walker is a John Deere dealership in the heart of Kentucky soybean country. The parts manager is a big Lista fan, and chose us despite Deere's relationship with Vidmar. Recessed drawer handles were a big reason why.

Drawers are subdivided and labeled. Half of the inventory is English measurement, half is metric (Deere switched to metric several years ago).

A variety of cabinet widths are used in the parts counter, with book/binder storage interspersed.
