The bio-med engineering department replaced old casework benches with Lista technical benches with FlexWorks. The range of sizes, power integration, the FlexWorks accessory system and the ability to pair the benches with companion mobile storage cabinets, gave Lista the edge in this sale.

TCH was looking for lots of power sources, and wanted to have easy access to outlets when large equipment was positioned next to the benches for repair. The solution was to put the outlets into the bench legs (the benches also have FlexWorks horizontal power rails).

Mobile cabinets, stored under the work-surface, can be pulled out to offer additional workspace, and are also rolled to remote work locations in the hospital for repairs to larger pieces of equipment.
